Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the phrase "in particular rolled" is indefinite, in that it is unclear if this limitation of the lens being "rolled" is being positively recited or not.

In claim 5, there is no antecedent basis for "the case".

In claims 15 and 16, the phrases "preferably..." are indefinite. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claims 15 and 16 recite the broad recitations of "at least one of the wings" or "at least one side", and the claim also recites "preferably both wings" and "preferably on two opposite sides", which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6,10,11 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brady-6540754.

Brady discloses an IOL cartridge and injector having a planar resting surface 114, an arched surface 56A and a sliding element 82. The IOL could also be placed on a flat surface of case 72 a formed by two wings. If so placed, pushing in of slider 82,80 would cause the IOL to slide against roll and fold against the curved arched surface of the interior of the 56A.

Claims 1-7,10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cumming-6503275.

Cumming discloses an IOL cartridge and injector having a planar surface (top of slider 36 or inside case 42) which could hold a lens. The slider has two side elements to snap fit and lock to the case 22. As shown in fig. 19-21 further pushing of the IOL would cause it to fold and roll when pushed against the arched surface 48.

Claims 1-6, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cumming-6497708.

Cumming discloses a cartridge having a flat surface (either 32 or 26 as pointed to in fig. 1) which could support an IOL 16. A slider has a surface 36 which pushes the IOL into engagement with an arched surface 20 causing the IOL to fold or roll up.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brady-'754 in view of Cumming-'275.

Brady discloses the invention as claimed with the exception of the snap fit catches. Cumming discloses side snap fit catches on the slider. It would have been obvious to have provided snap fit catches on the slider of Brady to be able to keep the cartridge closed to prevent inadvertent opening and loss of the IOL held therein. The catches are detachable from the case.

Claims 8, 9, ^{12 and 18} ~~and 12~~ would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
